Coaching in Communities Melissa Mosley Wetzel,Kerry H. Alexander,Claire Collins,2023-05-30 A revolutionary framework for teacher learning centered on justice-focused coaching that encourages culturally responsive practice and disrupts systems of oppression. In Coaching in Communities, researcher Melissa Mosley Wetzel and her coauthors distill the lessons of an eight-year study into a transformative educator training model, Coaching with CARE (critical and content-focused, appreciative, reflective, and experiential). They demonstrate how effective, contextual teacher training can be a cornerstone of educational justice, which occurs when all learners are supported to be successful in school and when schools expand notions of success to include diverse ways of life and learning. The authors show how this new framework, which draws from behavioral, cognitive, humanistic, and critical models of coaching, can be used in professional and informal learning contexts, and in dialogue with families and communities, to upend the status quo, break down the expert-novice distinction, and cultivate just forms of practice. As they note, the work of justice is collaborative, sustained engagement in resistance to marginalization, racism, and other inequities. Coaching in Communities presents a set of tools, including shared inquiry and coaching cycles of observation, reflection, and debriefing, and demonstrates how they work in real-life settings. With these tools, teacher education programs as well as districts, schools, and other organizations can train for change, which is one essential step in school transformation.

The Road Ahead D. Hunter, K. Storey, 2013-12-11 Successful transition from school to adult life has always been difficult for people with disabilities, especially in the area of employment. The vast majority of people with disabilities are either unemployed or underemployed with low wages and few benefits, and many governments are struggling to find a way of providing employment and benefits to people with disabilities without creating disincentives to work. This book provides strategies and ideas for improving the lives of people with disabilities, exploring new ways of enabling a successful transition to an integrated adult working life by providing effective instruction and support. Following an introduction which outlines the importance of transition services and meaningful outcomes, topics covered in the remaining chapters include: Person Centered Transition Planning; Enhancing Competence and Independence; Employment Assessment and Career Development; Collaboration between Agencies for a Seamless Transition; Independent Living and Supported Living; and Community Functioning Skills. The book will be of interest to all those who work with transition age students as well as those who work with adults with disabilities and want to enable them to have the best life possible. To paraphrase Helen Keller people with disabilities not only need to be given lives, they need to be given lives worth living.

Checklist for Change Robert Zemsky, 2013-08-20 Almost every day American higher education is making news with a list of problems that includes the incoherent nature of the curriculum, the resistance of the faculty to change, and the influential role of the federal government both through major investments in student aid and intrusive policies. Checklist for Change not only diagnoses these problems, but also provides constructive recommendations for practical change. Robert Zemsky details the complications that have impeded every credible reform intended to change American higher education. He demythologizes such initiatives as the Morrill Act, the GI Bill, and the Higher Education Act of 1972, shedding new light on their origins and the ways they have shaped higher education in unanticipated and not commonly understood ways. Next, he addresses overly simplistic arguments about the causes of the problems we face and builds a convincing argument that well-intentioned actions have combined to create the current mess for which everyone is to blame. Using provocative case studies, Zemsky describes the reforms being implemented at a few institutions with the hope that these might serve as harbingers of the kinds of change needed: the University of Minnesota at Rochester's compact curriculum in the health sciences only, Whittier College's emphasis on learning outcomes, and the University of Wisconsin Oshkosh's coherent overall curriculum. In conclusion, Zemsky describes the principal changes that must occur not singly but in combination. These include a fundamental recasting of federal financial aid; new mechanisms for better channeling the competition among colleges and universities; recasting the undergraduate curriculum; and a stronger, more collective faculty voice in governance that defines not why, but how the enterprise must change.

Examining the Impact of Community Colleges on the Global Workforce Jones, Stephanie J., 2015-08-04 In an effort to create a more educated workforce in the United States, many community colleges are implementing new practices and strategies to assist under-prepared students. These efforts will ultimately support a stronger and more resilient global workforce. Examining the Impact of Community Colleges on the Global Workforce provides relevant theoretical and conceptual frameworks, best practices, and emerging empirical research about new approaches being employed in community colleges to prepare students for their post-collegiate careers. Featuring recent initiatives in educational settings, this publication is a critical reference source for higher education practitioners, policymakers, and graduate students in higher education administration programs interested in the innovative practices utilized by community colleges to educate underserved students.

Step-By-step Guide to Google Apps Script 4 - Documents Barrie Roberts, 2020-05-30 Do you want to learn how to create documents automatically with Google Apps Script? This book shows you step-by-step how to use Apps Script to supercharge GOOGLE DOCS. Every chapter contains a practical example of using Apps Script to create a wide range of documents, such as, invoices, sales quotes, student reports, and conference talk information. It starts with relatively simple applications, like a master document copier which uses a Google Form to learning how to create web apps and making your own HTML forms to be able to email PDFs to potential customers. Each example builds on the previous ones so you get to understand how to use the Document Service well. As this is the fourth book in the series on Apps Script, it does assume a basic knowledge of Apps Script, JavaScript, and a little HTML. That said, every bit of code is explained with links provided to example Form, Sheet, and Document files. Tested using the new V8 runtime. Contents Introduction Document Service Overview Chapter 1 - Creating a Google Doc from a form submission Chapter 2 - Master document copier Chapter 3 - Edit a document template using placeholders Chapter 4 - Making an invoice with multiple items Chapter 5 - Making a document from scratch Chapter 6 - Making student reports with progress bars Chapter 7 - Emailing reports as a PDF or as a link Chapter 8 - Create multiple reports in one document

Chapter 9 - Email specific conference information
Chapter 10 - Sending conference info via a web app
